

Soft Computing Models for Cloud Service Optimization

Vîlcu Dana, Spiru Haret University

Abstract:

The general purpose of this talk is to present the place and the role a mobile device could play in person care. By identifying situations, domains, or diseases I point out appropriate type of apps. A particular goal is to analyze their characteristics and to propose solutions for appropriate implementations and persons to be involved.

Keywords: mobile devices, apps, medical informatics, sport training